Our climate is changing rapidly. We are seeing major shifts in technology and in the make-up of our population. We face risks from growing inequalities, long-running conflicts and new forms of violence. Managing these trends will require cooperation across borders, sectors and generations; So will do achieving our shared vision for a safer, fairer and more sustainable world.

To mark its 75th anniversary and beyond, the United Nations is launching a global conversation on the role of international cooperation in building the future we want. If you did not take the 1-minute survey yet, Shape Your Future now.

ENTREPS AWARD: ZERO HUNGER, CHAPTER 2

With this award we want to honor policies, projects, initiatives, institutions, start-ups and in very exceptional occasions, individuals, whose performance towards achieving the goals of this chapter should receive recognition.

A prime example of an action we find commendable regarding the second UN Sustainable Development Goal -Zero Hunger- could be the project for community reforestation in East Africa by Natural Capital Partners, who empower farmers to build sustainable livelihoods through community reforestation activity, increasing their food supply and providing information which will improve their food security¹. If you know any project, initiative or policy deserving the Award on this particular category, reach them out to apply now.

Therefore, Entreps appreciates the active work of those who have a significant impact in the implementation of these targets, which include the Sustainable Development Goals, established in 2015 by the United Nations, as well as more objectives which contribute to a more sustainable world. This is why the role of the Global Jurors specialists able to highlight the projects that they believe deserve to be recognized, is crucial.

Being a Global Juror just takes an hour per year from you, giving you private access to an online platform to nominate and vote, plus preferential access to the Congress and Awards Gala.

WHAT IS THE FIGHT AGAINST HUNGER?

According to the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, hunger is “an uncomfortable or painful physical sensation caused by insufficient consumption of dietary energy” which becomes chronic when a sufficient amount of calories is not regularly consumed in order to lead a normal healthy lifestyle. On the other hand, food insecurity is defined as a lack of access to enough safe and nutritious food for normal growth and development as well as an active healthy life which can be related to unavailability of food or lack of resources to obtain it².

The path towards achieving zero hunger does not only mean making sure that the right to have safe access to food is accessible to all individuals, but also to fight towards making sure that nutritional habits allowing a healthy life are common and universal and that food security is accomplished.

The right to food has been repeatedly recognized as a basic human right, as can be seen in Article 25 of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights³ proclaimed by the United Nations General Assembly in 1948. However, according to the United Nations, hundreds of millions of people suffer from undernourishment, the majority of which live in developing countries, and poor nutrition causes nearly half of deaths in children under the age of five. In order to counteract this, the United Nations has set five targets to achieve in order to accomplish this sustainable development goal, which are to be achieved with the cooperation of a variety of global actors⁴.
